

Are you interested in becoming a guest blogger for A.S.P.E.N.? Guest blogging opportunities are available for dietitians, pharmacists, and other clinicians with a knowledge of and passion for clinical nutrition.

To apply, please complete and return this application.

Name:

Are you an A.S.P.E.N. member?

Discipline:

Number of Years as Practitioner:

Area of Expertise:

I'd like to write about (select one of the below column types):

Please write one or two sentences about why you would make a good guest blogger.

How frequently are you willing to write?

A.S.P.E.N. has current openings for bloggers interested in writing the following columns or features:

Select One

Dietitian's Diary – Seeking a dietitian (or small team of dietitians) to write on topics that get other dietitians thinking about what matters in the day in the life.

Study Buddy – Seeking seasoned CNSC, BCNSP, CBPS, or other test-takers who want to provide practical guidance to people who are gearing up to take the test, particularly first-timers, with advice on study tips, sleep, and other healthy test-taking tips.

What to expect in your future career as a nutrition support practitioner – This column will be geared toward students and multidisciplinary, broken into a series with individual posts for future dietitians, pharmacists, MDs, and RNs.

Industry Updates – Do you work in industry and want to find a new way to connect with prospective clients? For more information and guidelines, please contact A.S.P.E.N.'s publications department.

All the Buzz – Are you a self-professed "techie"? Always know the newest apps? Come share your love for gadgets to help other practitioners find apps or other technologies that can come in handy on the job.